Illinois War Bond Quota for August Set at $57,500,000

Nation as Whole Will Be Asked for Total of $815,000,000

Washington, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau has set an August war bond quota of $57,500,000 for Illinois, compared with $5,000,000 for July. For the nation as a whole, the August quota is placed at $815,000,000, and for the fiscal year starting July 1 the goal is $12,000,000,000.

Because of seasonal variations in income, the monthly quotas will not be uniform, the treasury said. Americans dug down and purchased $900,000,000 in war bonds last month, with 18,000,000 workers authorizing wage deductions and 110,000 firms operating payroll savings plans.

It was the second highest month for war bonds. In January, immediately following Pearl Harbor and the declaration of war against Germany, sales soared to $1,060,000,000. The treasury said it was highly gratified with the July impetus.

During last month Morgenthau had about $200,000,000 was deducted from salaries and wages for war bond purchases. The treasury added that 2,000,000 more workers participated in payroll savings plans in July than in June, when total bond sales amounted to $634,000,000.

More than 8,000,000 bonds of the $5 denomination were sold in July, an increase of 1,000,000 over June. The treasury estimated that more than 20,000,000 Americans are holders of war bonds.

Larger Allotments of Sugar Are Announced

Washington, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Increased sugar allotments for industrial and institutional users for July and August will be extended through September and October, the Office of War Administration announced today.

The increased quotas give industrial consumers 80 per cent of their normal supply, instead of 70 per cent, and institutional users are granted a 25 per cent increase to boost their allotments to 75 per cent of normal.

OPA estimated that the increase over the four-month period would amount to about 160,000 tons. Purchase certificates for the additional allotments will be granted when the user applies for his regular allotment for the September-October period. Applications for this period will be received at any time after Aug. 7.

Heart Tag Day in Dixon Netted $190.00

The "Heart Tag Day" receipts here checked up by Miss Genevieve Lally who took charge of the Heart Tag Day campaign, totaled the sum of $192.59. The children worked faithfully all day in the morning until the afternoon, and those interested in the affair are deeply grateful to who in any way helped to make the day a success. At the close of the contest it was found that Jackie Teeter was the first prize, having won $24.72 for her tags; the second prize was won by Geraldine Teeter, who had $21.77. The third prize was won by Vivian Kerley who had $15.58. The other children were also happy with movie passes.

The War Today!

Viscountess Astor, America's contribution to the British House of Commons, sounded a rather sour note when she remarked in a speech that she is "grateful to the Russians, but they are not fighting for us. They are fighting for themselves."

Having been acquainted with Lady Nancy for many years, I'm confident that she had no intention of making an invidious remark which might damage allied unity. However, one of her outstanding characteristics is that she gives a loose rein to a frequently brilliant but often caustic and indiscreet tongue. Certainly her comment was ill-chosen at a moment when the Bolsheviks are standing between the allies and a catastrophe which might mean total defeat for us.

Of course the Russians are fighting for Russia. So is Britain fighting for Britain, and America for America, in this conflict for survival. It would be a most unhappy circumstance, though, if this were the only viewpoint from which we could consider the allies.

Two Young People in Automobile Accident Near Here Saturday

Haile Jones, Jr., of Oregon, and Miss Peggy Blakeslee of Chicago were taken to the Katherine Shaw Bethel hospital late Saturday night, victims of an automobile wreck at the south approach to the Grand Detour bridge. Jones sustained a fractured collar bone and was released from the hospital Sunday while Miss Blakeslee suffered only shoulder bruises and was dismissed after receiving treatment.

Two young couple were occupants of the car which was coming to Dixon from Oregon about 11 o'clock Saturday night and after leaving the south end of the bridge, the machine left the pavement and rolled over several times. Sheriff Gilbert Finch and Deputy L. E. Bates were called to the scene of the wreck.

New Britain, Conn., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Police were raiding a place here when the telephone rang. Officer Steve Coffey stepped to the receiver. "This you?" asked a voice. "Better beat it. The cops are going to break in." "We're on our way out," replied Coffey.

36 New Militiamen for Company A Recruited in Drive on Saturday

The recruiting campaign conducted by members of Co. A, Illinois Reserve Militia, in the business district Saturday evening far exceeded the expectations of the officers of the local company, a total of 36 being enlisted in the company with high recruiting honors going to Raymond Gehant and Irvin Knauer of West Brooklyn, who obtained ten recruits and promise of at least six others within the next two weeks. Officers of the company commended the members who so successfully conducted the recruiting campaign and expressed their appreciation to the public for the interest manifested.

Political Aftermath Seen as Result of American's Beating

Waldo Frank Attacked by Five Argentine Thugs on Sunday

Buenos Aires, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The painful beating which six assailants dealt to Waldo Frank within 24 hours after the Argentine government had pronounced the United States writer and lecturer unwelcome in this country threatened today to provoke a political aftermath.

Deputy Eduardo Araujo said he would offer a motion in the lower house demanding that the government explain what means it took to protect the 53-year-old publicist after its declaration Saturday that he had become persona non grata.

Frank was attacked yesterday in the apartment where he had lived since he came to Argentina 11 weeks ago at the invitation of various universities and cultural societies.

Struck With Revolver
Jose Stanek, porter in the house, said the unidentified men were armed and gained entry to Frank's apartment by posing as agents sent to examine his papers. When Frank turned to a desk drawer, presumably to get the papers, one of the men struck him with a revolver butt, Stanek related.

Dr. William B. Giles, Frank's physician, said he suffered a brain concussion of deep severity. He was said to be resting easily, however.

British Seaside Resorts Shelled

London, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Britishers spending the August bank holiday at seaside resorts or celebrating at home were targets of German air raiders who swooped from the clouds to bomb scattered towns in England this afternoon.

A trail of bomb damage was left across a southwest seaside town but casualties were believed slight. Crowds watched a Spitfire pursue one raider.

A North Midland town, where a carnival was held for those heeding the government's admonition to enjoy the holiday at home, was subjected to low-level bombing by a lone raider. Two bombs fell in a park near an outdoor theater, but only minor casualties resulted.

The Air Ministry listed axis air losses of 424 planes during July over Britain, continental Europe, the Middle East and at sea, against 432 RAF losses in the same month.

Unfavorable weather over the continent meanwhile kept Britain's own big bomber fleet from renewing its offensive against Germany.

Oglesby Co.'s Petition to Operate Ordnance Plant Bus Is Denied

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 3.—(AP)—The Illinois Commerce Commission announced today that it had denied the Oglesby Transportation Company's petition to operate buses between the Green River Ordnance plant at Dixon and LaSalle, Peru, Mendota, Henkel, Sublette and Amboy. The commission said in its order that it favored the previous application of the Peoria-Rockford Bus Company to operate over the route. In the two other orders, the commission authorized the Cardinal Lines, Inc., to operate buses between Freeport and the Illinois-Wisconsin state line at Beloit and authorized the Nameoki Transit Company to operate buses between Granite City, Nameoki and Pontoon beach.

Savage Fighting in New Guinea Jungles Nearer Port Moresby

Reinforcement of Jap Garrison at Buna Is Indicated by Move

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Australia, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The possibility that the Japanese have reinforced their garrison at Buna was acknowledged by an allied spokesman today as General MacArthur's headquarters reported a renewal of savage fighting in the New Guinea jungle midway between that enemy base and Port Moresby.

The communique announcing the jungle fighting declared allied troops had routed Japanese outposts near Kokoda, 60 miles east of Port Moresby, and said allied bombers had set fire to enemy supply dumps in that area.

It was the first reference to the existence of such supply dumps, and an allied spokesman said it was not impossible the Japanese had been moving men and equipment in from Lae—some 165 miles north of Buna.

There have been no indications, however, that the original force which the Japanese landed July 22 in the Buna area—estimated at not more than 2,500 men—has been reinforced by sea, the spokesman said.

In addition to attacking the supply dumps at Kokoda, allied heavy and medium bombers pounded enemy positions near Buna. Japanese fighters rose to intercept the allied planes and a hot fight ensued in which five of the enemy planes were shot down, General MacArthur's headquarters said.

Allies' Losses Small
A twin-engine Japanese bomber which became involved in the melee also was reported destroyed. Allied losses were given as two fighters and one bomber.

Prior to this assault allied bombers made a night attack on the Japanese bases at Lae and nearby Salamaua, shooting down one enemy plane and scoring hits on an airdrome and anti-aircraft positions, the bulletin said.

Other allied planes, ranging over the Banda sea west of New Guinea yesterday, were reported to have bombed a Japanese cruiser for the third time in as many days. The results of the attack, pressed home without loss in the face of enemy fighter opposition, were undetermined.

BIG AIR BATTLE

Chungking, Aug. 3.—(AP)—A second big air battle for control of the skies over China was reported fought today over Hengyang air base between United States planes and new Japanese fighters apparently massed for an attempt to wipe out the Americans' outpost in Hunan province.

Although no details of the fight were available immediately, word reached here that the outcome had been favorable to the Americans. A spokesman at Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters said no information would be given out until tomorrow.

Stilwell's headquarters had announced earlier that the scale of the first big Japanese attack on Hengyang last Thursday and Friday indicated that the invaders had assembled a special force of improved fighter planes for the express purpose of trying to wipe out the American air base.

119 Jap Planes in Air
A total of 119 Japanese planes participated in a 36-hour attack on the airfield which began before daylight last Thursday, a communique said.

The bulletin confirmed previous official reports that 17 of the attacking planes had been shot down.

Fibber

New York, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Either the Coney Island correspondent for the Rome radio is a big fibber or else there isn't any such person.

Here's what the New York bureau of the Office of War Information heard from an overseas listening post in London, which heard it from the Rome radio: "On the famed and popular Coney Island beach, according to information coming from New York, no longer will crowded bathers throng, since the troubled waters of the Atlantic float enormous oil stains and bodies are washed ashore, frightening the few bathers who nevertheless venture to take a bath."

Maybe it was some other beach, for the only "oil" visible there yesterday was sun-tan oil; there were no "bodies" at all, and the "few bathers" were in the neighborhood of 900,000.

Big Shot Gambler, Petty Crook Shot Dead in New York

New York, Aug. 3.—(AP)—As they sat in shirt-sleeves playing a quiet game of bridge, a big-shot Broadway betting commissioner and a little-shot crook and gambler were shot to death early today by a masked gunman who escaped.

Scene of the double shooting was the White House Bridge Association's clubrooms a few blocks north of Times Square, and just a block and a half from where an even bigger gambler—Arnold Rothstein—met his death in like fashion 14 years ago. Rothstein's slaying never has been solved.

One of the victims of today's gunfire was Robert B. Greene, 40, who accepted bets on practically anything, and who was a partner of Sam Boston, once linked with the mysterious Rothstein case as a material witness.

Petty Criminal

The other was Morris Wolenski, 44, also known to police and Broadway's questionable characters as "Dimples Wolen," with a record of petty crimes.

Greene was facing the door of the clubrooms on the second floor of the building when, Club Manager Adelman said, the snout of a revolver appeared in the doorway.

Six shots sounded in rapid succession, the two victims slumped to the floor, and the gunman raced back downstairs.

Two other players and a fifth man who had been "kibitzing" the game waited a moment and then fled the clubrooms, Adelman said.

Reds Lash Back in New Strength Along Caucasus Rail Line

Cossacks Lead Attacks in Critical Salients South of Moscow

BY JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press War Editor
Adolf Hitler's Russian offensive appeared today to be losing impetus against slowly tightening Russian defenses at the Don bend approach to Stalingrad and along the last rail line to the oil fields of the Caucasus as the Red army lashed back in a new show of strength.

Along the whole 300-mile arc from Kletska, 80 miles northwest of Stalingrad, to Kuschevka, 50 miles south of Rostov, the Russians still were on the defensive; but the strengthening of their stand was indicated by counterattacks which they reported hurled the Germans back with losses of 6,000 dead in a single day.

Don and Kuban Cossacks led the counterattacks in the critical salients of Kuschevka and Salsk, 100 miles southeast of Rostov, in the first intimation that the big garrison of the north Caucasus may have been thrown into the fight.

It was in this sector that the Germans made their deepest penetration into the northern Caucasus.

The German high command said one of its tank columns was "nearing the upper course of the Kuban river."

How far the nazis were from the northern curve of the river was not specified.

The Kuban rises in the western glaciers of Elborus and curves to the north within 70 miles of Salsk before turning west to empty through a marshy delta into the Black sea just south of the Strait of Kerch.

Red Rear Guard Retreats

The Germans said the Russian rear guard was being forced south from the Yeya river which runs through Kuschevka to Taganrog Bay, the northeastern arm of the Sea of Azov. The Berlin communique said other German forces which crossed the Don south of Tsimlyansk were rolling the Russians back to the east, between the Sal and the Don rivers. This would indicate a German effort to widen their Caucasus wedge between Rostov and Tsimlyansk.

The German high command acknowledged that the Red army was striking back with fresh force in the Don bend and at Voronezh, on the exposed northern flank of the German offensive, but said the

Sinking of 408th Vessel Announced

By The Associated Press
Nine ships announced last week to have been sunk by submarines in the western Atlantic and another victim disclosed yesterday brought to 408 today The Associated Press unofficial tabulation of allied and neutral wartime merchant losses in the area.

The latest announced sinking was that of a medium-sized Russian cargo carrier July 4 in the Gulf of Mexico. This marked the first disclosure of an axis sub's attack on a soviet vessel in the Gulf and the first instance of women crew members being killed.

A stewardess and a woman dishwasher, together with six seamen, were killed when four torpedoes crashed into the Russian ship, 36 survivors reported on reaching an east coast port after being picked up by a Swedish merchantman and transferred to a U. S. naval vessel.

Of the other two women aboard the stricken craft, one was Anna Voronikova, the ship's doctor, who was praised by the survivors for working coolly and "like a machine" in caring for injured seamen.

Murray Proposes New Peace Parley of Labor Unions

Pittsburgh, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The possibility of a reconciliation between the Congress of Industrial Organizations and the American Federation of Labor was revived today by a proposal of CIO President Philip Murray for renewal of peace negotiations.

Murray wrote William Green, president of the AFL, that he had named a CIO peace committee of three and asked Green to appoint a similar AFL group to discuss "possible establishment of organic unity between our organizations."

In Washington, Green said he would issue a statement of Murray's proposal when the AFL executive council convenes tomorrow in Chicago.

Green would not state specifically whether the subject of organic unity would be discussed at the meeting, saying there would be no comment until issuance of

Lightning Performs Some Queer Antics

Lightning which accompanied thunder storms and heavy rain fall in Dixon and vicinity last week, created freak accidents in many places. South of Dixon, a bolt struck a metal colony house in a field which housed several hog colony houses. Two sows and their pigs were killed. East of Dixon on another farm, lightning struck a shock of oats in a field and despite the down pour of rain, the shock burned completely. In Swissville a bolt ran down a tree trunk against which a lawn mower had been left the night previous. The wooden handle of the lawn mower splintered but the tree was apparently undamaged. North of Amboy Saturday afternoon, a bolt of lightning accompanied one of the storms grounded near the rider of a horse and the concussion unmounted the rider who fell to the ground, suffering a fracture of the right leg.

A mental patient at the state hospital had escaped and decided to treat the animals.

Lee County Will Have Blackout Test Wednesday Night Aug. 12th

On the night of Wednesday, Aug. 12, Lee county, one of a group of central western districts, will have its first "blackout" test. Many communities within the area prescribed for the half hour of darkness are well organized and prepared for the experiment. In Dixon and throughout Lee county very little has been done toward organizing for such a test, it was learned today, and immediate steps are to be taken to organize both the city and county for the first blackout.

Arthur C. Handell has been named head of the county committee and William Cinnamon is in charge of the city's participation. The latter is being assisted by Walter Knack, and a meeting has been called for 7:30 this evening at the city hall at which time some plan will be outlined to provide immediate instruction for those who have been appointed to assist those in charge and to decide on a signal system which will warn the citizens of both the approach and close of the blackout test.

Army Commission's Verdict Given FDR for Official Okey

Contents May Not Be Revealed Until It Is Given Study

Washington, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The military commission which tried eight alleged nazi saboteurs reached a decision today on the guilt or innocence of the men and Major General Frank R. McCoy took the findings to the White House for President Roosevelt.

The chief executive must review the findings, and he is expected to take his time and go into the case thoroughly.

The commission's recommendations probably will not be made public until Roosevelt has completed his review.

Earlier Presidential Secretary Stephen Early had said the findings would be placed before the president "as soon as possible." The defendants and government defense counsel were summoned before the commission again as it met in the Justice building today after private sessions Saturday afternoon and yesterday.

After a brief meeting, the commission issued this statement which indicated it had reached a judgment:

"The commission reconvened at 11:05 a. m. (10:05 a. m. CWT.). The commission announced that the findings and sentence will not be announced by it. The commission adjourned at 11:07 to meet at the call of the president."

Has Final Word

The president, from whom the first public disclosure of the judgment is expected to come, alone has power to alter the commission's decision, which could carry a death penalty for all or part of the defendants.

There was speculation that the commission's announcement that it adjourned to meet at the call of the president meant it would meet to sign death warrants for at least seven of the defendants if

Mendota Soldier's Death Investigated

San Antonio, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Investigation of the death of Pvt. Paul R. Heffner of Fort Sam Houston, found fatally injured Saturday on the new military highway, was turned over to military authorities today.

Heffner, whose home was in Mendota, Ill., was found dead at the intersection of the highway and Garrity road, surrounded by broken glass. Deputy sheriffs had said earlier they believed the soldier had been beaten to death. Today, however, it was suggested he had been struck by a truck.

Maj. Prosper D. Smith, Fort Sam Houston Provost Marshal, said later he had found "no evidence whatsoever" of foul play.

"Private Heffner was evidently the victim of a hit-and-run driver," he said, "or of some kind of an auto accident."

German Plane Bombs Outpost in Iceland

Reykjavik, Iceland, Aug. 3.—(AP)—A German plane bombed and machine-gunned a remote military installation of southeastern Iceland yesterday, United States military authorities announced today, saying there were no casualties and only negligible damage.

This was the fifth instance of German air activity over Iceland, garrisoned by U. S. troops, within two weeks. The attack apparently was minor, but the Army declined further details.

The bleak island northwest of England lies about 600 miles from the nearest German-held territory in Norway.

The attacking plane was a Focke-Wulf.

Sturgeon Bay, Wis., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Two more ships to aid the war effort were launched yesterday at the Leathem D. Smith Shipbuilding Co. yards in ceremonies witnessed by several thousand persons. ### Schroeder Pleads for Aggressive War Platform for G.O.P.

National Committeeman Urges Courageous and Firm Stand

At Princeville Saturday night Werner W. Schroeder insisted that the Republican party must pursue an aggressively dynamic policy in connection with the war and all other federal matters for the sake of the United States and the whole world.

In a speech for delivery during the observance of Republican day at the annual Princeville homecoming, he said that upon the 22 million Americans who voted with the Republican party in 1940 rests the weight of winning victory and saving America.

"The responsibilities, the burdens upon the Republican party," he continued, "are greater today than ever before in its history."

A Fighting Minority

"Upon this fighting minority—which is so large that it is almost a majority—history will place a large share of the load of achieving eventual victory in the war as well as preserving the freedom of men in war and in the peace that follows."

Throughout his half-hour talk, the Illinois member of the Republican national committee pressed home his argument that the party cannot and must not pussyfoot on war issues, following blindly, submissively wherever the national administration leads.

"No man," he said, whether he be born king or emperor, or be elected President, or appointed to office, is infallible. He is still a human being who must be guided, instructed, restrained, or compelled by courageous public opinion that will cry out against error and denounce injustice or tyranny.

"The duty of patriotic criticism makes the responsibility of the Republican party the greatest it has ever known."

"The Republican party is the repository of freedom and democracy."

Democrats Reproached

Schroeder reproached the Democratic party for its repeated charge that criticism constitutes disloyalty.

"Were the Republican party in charge of directing the war," he said, "there would be no stifling of criticism, but every effort to encourage it."

"There would be, were the Republican party in charge, a department of criticism which would invite ideas, would receive letters, telegrams, and oral complaints; would classify, examine, and analyze them; and out of this great avalanche of thought would discover those ideas that are helpful—and might find an inspiration that would be the turning point of this war."

Harness Brain Power

"The greatest need today in the United States is to harness the sum total of the brain power of the American people. If bureaucracy will not do it, the Republican party must."

"We have a higher duty, a more difficult one, a more delicate one, than the party in power. It is the duty to correct the wrong, to stop waste, to clamp the lid on excessive governmental expenditures, to restrain selfish grabbing for power, to knock inefficiency out of the war effort."

"It does no good to indulge in carping criticism. As one member of the Republican national committee, I ask that all personalities be stopped. I recommend the words of the great thinker Emerson, who said: 'Criticism should not be querulous or wasteful—but guiding, constructive, inspiring; a south wind, not an east wind.'

Courageous and Honest

"The Republican party in its differences of opinion with the administration will be firm, courageous and honest, guided ever by one thought: 'Are we contributing to victory over our enemies and to the preservation of the freedom of human beings?'"

"What I have been saying was discerned months ago by the members of the Republican party in Illinois. In our primary for United States senator last April the voters of our state, in a tremendous 5 to 1 vote, said in effect that we honor the President of the United States as commander in chief of our armed forces, but whenever those in control of our government permit policies to beget incompetence, whenever selfishness or political self-seeking hinder the war effort, whenever the government closes its door to talent, we shall raise our voices to insist upon bringing order out of chaos, upon taking politics out of the war, and upon an end to the bungling of the war.

"That was the voice of the people of America. That is the voice of every free man that ever lived."

"I do not go too far when I say that the destruction of the Republican party would spell the destruction of our nation. And, on the contrary, the greatest good that could come to the United States of America in this time of war would be to place the Republican party in the majority position in the congress of the United States."

Hits 'Patriot' Claim

The speaker condemned emphatically those who hold that the only patriots in the United States are those who were for intervention before Pearl Harbor—or were silent on the issue.

"Before Pearl Harbor," he said, "there had been vigorous discussion in this free country of the extent to which we should give help to the nations of Europe as distinguished from complete preparation—complete preparation of our own land for defense. Two views were put forward."

"But now we view with dismay an insincere effort to place the blame for Pearl Harbor upon those, especially in the middle west, who held one view rather than another."

"An official report on Pearl Harbor was made by a judge of the Supreme court, two generals, and two admirals. They placed the blame. The dishonesty of an effort to place the blame elsewhere leads to national disunity."

No Division Today

"There was a great division on this subject among the people as well as among public officials of both parties. There is no division today."

"Our people and our officials, irrespective of party, are united with a singleness of purpose on the one subject of winning the war, and any discussion of a division of opinion on foreign policy prior to the war not only contributes nothing to victory but tends to create a disunity among our people detrimental to national morale."

The Republican leader said that such a discussion opens for consideration the broader question of responsibility for the lack of preparedness in this country. In this connection he recited the record of the present administration in opposition to adequate defense before Pearl Harbor.

Victory Tasks Listed

Schroeder listed numerically some of the things he said must be accomplished to insure victory, things the Republican party must force on the administration. Among them were these:

"1. American ingenuity must be given free play, unhampered by incompetent bureaucrats, to solve the rubber problem."

"2. The genius of America must be permitted to establish a defense for shipping in American waters against the submarine menace.

"3. We must rid Washington of its parasites and exploiters and clean out the war profiteers."

"4. We must stop the trickery and treacherous practice of New Dealers who are building a Tammany hall political machine clothed in the garb of social reform."

"5. The administration and every one in the country must stop playing politics with the war."

Urges Management Change

"6. Management of production must be taken out of the hands of flatterers and sycophants and put in the hands of those who have won success in industry."

"7. We must force the administration to appoint men and organize departments on the basis of ability rather than on political subservience."

"8. We must force the administration to organize industrial, financial, political, and productive America and to attain unity of spirit."

"9. Nonessential civilian expenses must be pruned to the minimum. Waste and wild spending must end."

Democrats Picnic at Freeport Yesterday

Freeport, Ill., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Congressman Raymond S. McKeough, Democratic candidate for U. S. senator, asserted yesterday that "if the American public had listened to (President) Wilson instead of his critics, we might not now be in a war, we might not have had a Hitler."

He told an audience at the annual picnic of Stephenson county Democrats that hate for Roosevelt had "warped the minds" of some of his critics and "engendered a partisanship more bitter than we have ever known before."

He said the issue in the current campaign was "whether we shall stand by our commander-in-chief or give consolation to Hitler."

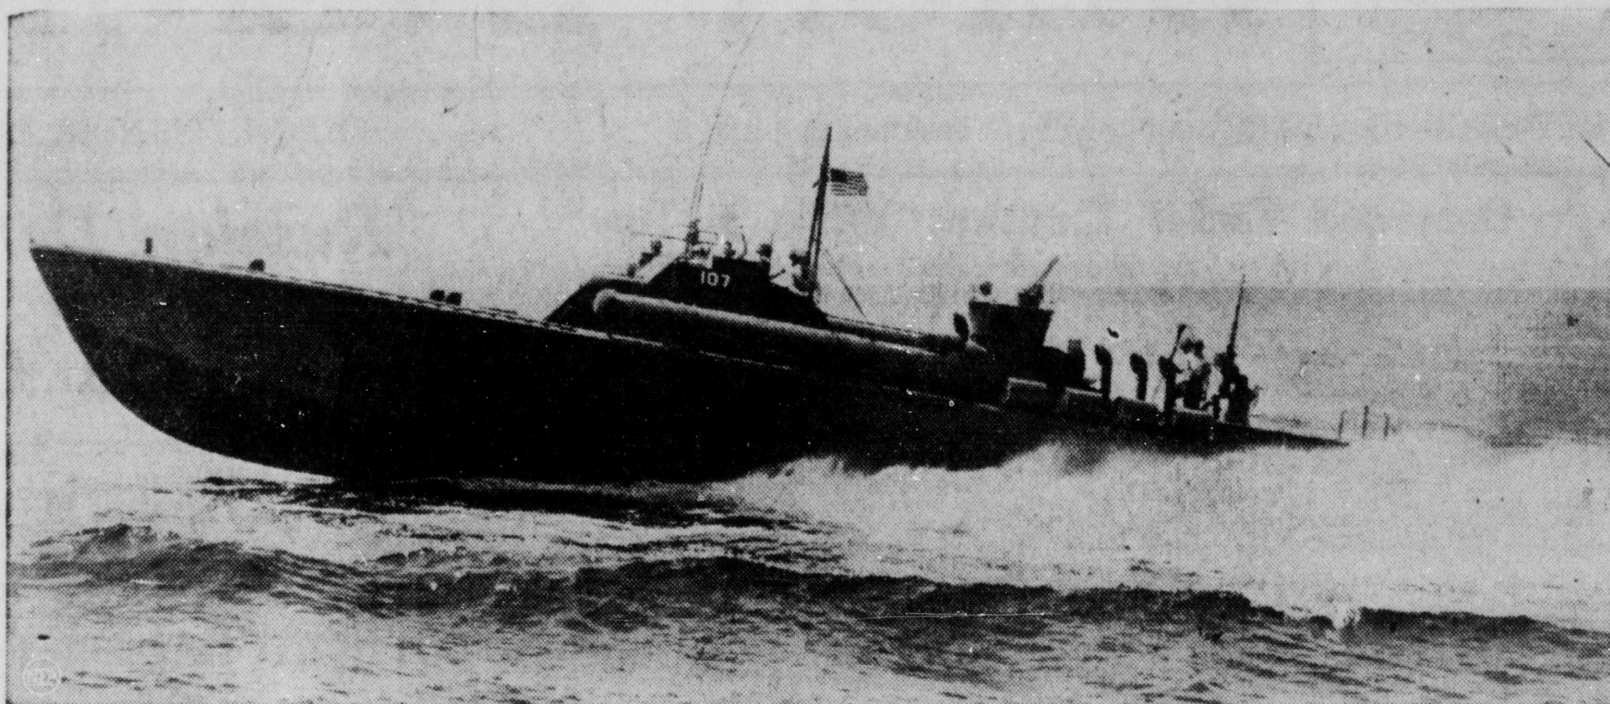

Other Democratic speakers included Benjamin S. Adamowski, candidate for congressman-at-large W. D. "Don" Forsythe, candidate for state treasurer; and John A. Wieland, candidate for re-election as state superintendent of public instruction.

A NEW EMBLEM JOINS an OLD

YARDSTICKS for the measurement of Illinois Central participation in the war continue to develop from day to day. One shows how Illinois Central enlistments are running well into the second thousand—not relatives of workers, but workers themselves. Another shows how Illinois Central rails are humming under the unprecedented wartime traffic and how efficiency is increasing despite the lack of materials that would make the increase less difficult.

And now there comes an additional measure in the announcement that Illinois Central workers have substantially passed the 90 per cent mark in the purchase of war bonds on the payroll plan. That accomplishment brings us—all of us—the right to display the Minute Man emblem and to roll up our sleeves anew for the final drive to the 100 per cent position.

Up to the middle of July some 93 per cent of the Illinois Central's 37,256 employees had subscribed for war bonds. Monthly payroll deductions totaled $283,671. On a yearly basis these would account for purchases totaling $3,404,052. Cash purchases otherwise, including pre-campaign deductions, were reported to total $1,788,924. Combined, these indicate a total year's purchases aggregating $5,192,976, a sum not so very far short of 10 per cent of the railroad's total payroll of $65,362,288 in 1941.

We may confidently expect some such goal to be reached in the not-so-distant future. For all of which we want to thank the members of the Illinois Central war bond solicitation committee which has functioned so successfully in the campaign to date.

In this connection also, I want to pay a sincere tribute of approval to the personnel of the railway labor organizations, who went to bat in great style for this essential patriotic enterprise and assured its success. The labor executives assumed a degree of initiative and leadership which took the project largely out of the normal status of a management-sponsored idea and made it truly a co-operative effort—the forerunner, it is to be hoped, of many enterprises both in and out of railroading itself on which we shall go forward shoulder to shoulder in the future for the common good.

RICHARD IBENS, NEWLYWEDS, ARE NOW AT HOME IN QUAIN STONE HOUSE AT GRAND DETOUR

The little old stone house of the Joseph Crawfords at Grand Detour is the new address of a recent bride and bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Iben, whose marriage was solemnized Saturday, July 25, in a noon ceremony at Westminster church in Peoria, before the Rev. A. Allison. Mrs. Iben is the former Miss Gretchen Hulsebus, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Hulsebus of Pasadena, Calif., formerly of Peoria, and her bridegroom is a son of Mrs. Richard Iben of 220 Moss avenue, Peoria.

This same quaint cottage—in a village of simple homes, century-old elms and glorious traditions—was built by a Mr. Farrand in 1835 (two years before John Deere began making plows nearby) and was the honeymoon house of the Charles Sheffields. It is said to have been the beginning of the first Sheffield hotel, as Mrs. Sheffield "boarded" and provided sleeping rooms for workmen who laid out the road in the village.

The Crawfords purchased the house about five years from Amos Hezekiah Sheffield, and since then have used it as a guest house. They recently modernized it, but the original architecture remains undisturbed.

The Ibens are the first couple to reside there in about 25 years. Both formerly attended the University of Illinois, from where she received a degree in English and became affiliated with Alpha Omicron Pi national sorority. She later took private instruction in diction at the Pasadena Playhouse in Pasadena, and also studied at the Theodora Irvine Studio for the Theatre in New York City.

She has had wide experience in the theatre, having successfully directed a number of productions for the Peoria Players' Civic Theatre, including "The Dark Tower," "Petticoat Fever," Maxwell Anderson's "High Tor," and "Death Takes a Holiday." The Peoria theatre group boasts a membership of 1,800. In Peoria, she was a member of Chapter EF, P. E. O. Sisterhood.

Mr. Iben, who is employed in the construction department of the Green River ordnance plant, majored in civil engineering at Illinois, and owns the R. Iben Contracting company in Peoria. His fraternity is Sigma Phi Beta.

MRS. WALLACE HICKS, JR. WINS JULY HANDICAP EVENT AT PLUM HOLLOW GOLF CLUB

When linkswomen of the Plum Hollow Golf and Country club meet at the end of the current season to share the spoils of their summer's golfing wars, the trophy for the July handicap tourney will be awarded to Mrs. Wallace Hicks, Jr., whose young husband is an air mechanic student at Chanute field, Rantoul. "Tony" defeated Mrs. Elwin Wadsworth, four up, in their championship bout of the contest, and Mrs. Joseph Villiger, Jr., won the B-flight championship match, eight up, from Mrs. James Reiter.

Next of special importance on the women's golfing calendar at Plum Hollow is the inter-club match scheduled for Wednesday at the Dixon Country club course, and the August championship tournament, which is to get underway at Plum Hollow next week. Tomorrow, the Plum Hollow women golfers will be recording scores in a "novelty match" that is to be played by rules which are to remain a secret until the players are ready to tee off.

Eighteen couples turned out for the two-ball mixed foursome matches yesterday afternoon. At the end of the nine holes, Mrs. Henry Jensen and Ernie Swan received the prize for low net score, 50; Mrs. Joseph Villiger, Jr. and James Reiter had low putts, 12; and a special award went to Mrs. Edward Witzleb and Ralph Barlow.

That Miss Suzanne North Hazelet, elder of the two daughters of the Craig P. Hazelets, and John Hallett Clark III of this city, only son of the Junior John Hallett Clarks of Essex Fells, N. The names "John and Sue," found on red, white and blue match folders at the party, revealed the engagement of the couple, who have not yet set their wedding day.

—WE, THE WOMEN—

Ruth Millett Tells the Girls Something the Servicemen Can't

By RUTH MILLETT

The woman who is going to walk down the street with a man in uniform ought to be twice as particular as usual about the way she looks.

To begin with, if a woman is carelessly turned out, the contrast between her and the spic and span-ness of a man in uniform will emphasize every careless, slipshod thing about her dress.

Her stringy hair will look stringier, her run over heels will look sloppier, her too flashy outfit will look more gaudy.

And she hasn't any right to detract from a serviceman's appearance. She does just that if she isn't dressed neatly and appropriately.

That uniform of his stands for something. It means something to everyone he passes on the street. But it doesn't look quite so good when the man wearing it is walking along a city street with a woman in sloppy slacks, a rumpled house dress, or a dress with a halter top.

Be Sure to Do Your Soldier Proud

Servicemen are taught to keep their uniforms spotless. They are taught how to carry themselves so that they look proud of the uniforms they are wearing.

But even if they would like to, they can't tell their women that, if they are going to be part of the public picture, they ought to be equally particular about their own dress and grooming.

So this is telling them for the servicemen who would like to. If you're going to walk down the street with a soldier, be sure you do him and his uniform proud.

A Thought for Today

Reprove not a scorned, lest he hate thee; rebuke a wise man, and he will love thee.—Proverbs 9:8.

Life is a long lesson in humility.—Barrie.

Take Care of Yourself

More Americans will die this year, because of civilian accidents, than were killed by the Germans in the first World War.

More will be injured than were in the biggest army we ever raised, the World War I army, including front line fighters, Service of Supply workers, and those who never got further than preliminary training camps in the United States.

As many will be permanently incapacitated by injuries as the total of American soldiers wounded during the first World War.

Individually, there is nothing sensational about most accidents. The victim suffers. So do his wife, his children and his other relatives. His friends are sorry. Perhaps the community helps care for his dependents. It's too bad, we say, but he should have been more careful.

In the aggregate, the time has passed when we can take this dispassionate approach to accidents. The National Safety Council, with the expressed approval and support of President Roosevelt and Donald Nelson, is trying to reduce the accident trend as a war measure.

Last year four million workers were injured, three-fifths away from their jobs. Fifty thousand of them died. Another 170,000 were permanently disabled. The rest were kept from work for greater or lesser periods.

This year, with employment up, the first five months' experience forecasts 4,400,000 injuries, 52,000 deaths, 180,000 permanent injuries.

From the war production standpoint this is mighty serious. It means, the National Safety Council computes, that we shall lose five hundred million man-days of labor, at a time when we are pressed to find enough workers to care for our military needs.

Half a billion man-days is equivalent approximately to two million men working fifty 40-hour weeks.

Those two million men are enough to provide the labor for building 71 battleships, or 625 destroyers, or 24,000 flying fortresses, or 120,000 fighter planes, or 312,500 light tanks.

In time of war we can't evaluate lost labor in terms of man-days, or even in humanitarian terms. We have to think in terms of armament and munitions—the tools with which civilization, as we have come to know it, is to be saved from the Huns.

It is up to every worker, and every worker's

SECOND HONEYMOON

CHAPTER VIII

"I've taken a bath. I've brushed my teeth. I've shaved and dressed. But before I tackle my hair, please tell me whether I have a date with you or not."

Bart stood in the doorway, grinning at her. Christie laughed, letting her eyes dwell admiringly on her handsome husband.

"You've a date with the family—a luncheon date. And you won't mind because you'll be the big shot. They're so proud of your uniform, the brass buttons and especially the wings. Get set to tell them how good you are."

Just as she had foreseen, Mrs. Colton asked scores of questions. "But isn't it lonesome, Bart?" All those boys had wives, sweet hearts, mothers. They've been accustomed to going about, doing things. Then, suddenly, they're dumped into some place with nothing to do."

"Nothing to do?" Bart laughed. "Have you a hostess house?" Mrs. Colton continued, "and do you have any fun?"

"Yes," Bart answered both of her questions. "We have shows, field meets, tea dances, suppers—oh, yes, we have fun in between practice flight, saber drills, aerial reviews, and the regular routine. That reminds me," Bart added, "Sandra drove to the field the other day. She has an idea that she'd be a good entertainer."

Christie didn't speak for a moment, afraid her irritation would show. Of course, Sandra had every right to visit the field, every right to become an entertainer if she wanted to. If this were not Bart's field, she'd probably agree that it was a good idea.

She lifted her eyes from her plate and smiled at Bart. "I imagine Sandra would be pretty good at that," she said. She thought Bart looked relieved. A moment later, Christie glanced at her wrist watch. "Hate to run," she said. "But there's a meeting of my surgical dressing unit. I'm the instructor, Bart."

"Good for you," But Bart looked doubtful. He added, "What am I supposed to do?"

"Jan, you and Mother keep Bart amused," Christie commanded. "I'll be through about 4:30."

BART was at his mother's the next morning when Jan came by the apartment. "You're all bones again," Christie said seriously. "You and that cigaret habit—and I don't know why. Something on your mind?"

Jan was staring out of the window, moodily. She wheeled around: "Why don't you run around more with Bart when he's at home, instead of letting Sandra amuse him?"

"You forget I have a quota to meet. . . committee work—" she broke off. "Sandra! What in the world do you mean?"

"We all landed at Sandra's yesterday afternoon. She was having a party—a good one, too. You should have seen the ridiculous skit she put on."

"You should have seen her showing your husband a new jet-step," Christie frowned. "It doesn't sound dignified for an officer."

"I think he forgot he was an officer and was just a man," Jan replied.

"Why are you talking like this, Jan?" Christie asked in a low voice. "Because I feel all mean inside, I guess." Jan's voice was bitter. "You've been quarreling with Stephen."

"No, it's worse than that. Stephen doesn't care enough to quarrel."

Christie said, "Maybe he does care. Men have a lot of pride when they feel they can't support a girl."

"It isn't that, either," Jan's voice was so low it was almost a whisper. "I think he cares for someone else."

"I shouldn't let it worry me," she said quickly before Christie could speak. "He's really an awful fool, Christie. He says the most awful things, and he is going to lose his job at the Wainwrights if he isn't careful. He talks about Versailles and what the Allies didn't do to stop future wars when they had the power."

"Things like that. Betty Wainwright said he would make a perfect fifth columnist and she wasn't joking when she said it."

"It is silly of Stephen to say things people might misunderstand," Christie agreed. "He's as loyal as we are. But he will lose his job. I'm going to speak to him."

"I'm leaving my coat," Jan said, turning to go. "It's turning hot as blazes." She looked at Christie levelly: "Stephen is fortunate in having you for a little girl scout."

Christie hung Jan's coat up mechanically. Funny, Bart hadn't told her they had stopped by Sandra's. Maybe he didn't think it was important. Then, there was Stephen spouting off things which might not have sounded unpatriotic before the United States got in the war, but which had an almost treasonable sound now.

On an impulse she went to the telephone and called the Wainwright Chemical Co. She must warn Stephen. He was a nice boy with a mother to support—and Jan was certainly in love with him.

STEPHEN was out, the girl at the office said. She took the number and said she would ask him to call.

Christie was in her bath when the phone rang. Bart had come home, and she heard him answer. When she came into the living room later, Bart was bowed over the afternoon paper. "Hello," he said. Christie stood near him, waiting. Then she stooped and kissed him.

"Hello, yourself. Your welcome is as cold as my shower. Did I hear the phone ring?"

"You did. It was your friend, Stephen. I was about to tell him he had a damn lot of nerve calling my wife, but just then he said he was answering your call."

"He was," Christie said. She was about to explain why she had telephoned, and then decided against it. It would give Bart another reason for disliking Stephen.

Something in the deepening silence made Christie very angry. "Why didn't you tell me that you went by Sandra's?" she asked.

"I didn't think you were interested," Bart answered. "You were so deep in that lecture business."

"Coming from a fighting man who should know how essential all that 'business' is, your remark is a little strange," Christie said.

They were quarreling. She must be very careful. This was the first rift, and it could be widened by the wrong words.

"Bart," Christie said, "we're silly." She sat down on the arm of his chair. Bart reached up quickly, pulled her down on his lap and smothered her with kisses.

"I'm sane and sensible," he said. "But sometimes I think you haven't a brain in your head. I don't know why I love such a dim-wit."

"For the same reason that I love you," Christie laughed. She sat up straight. Forbidden words were still so tantalizingly near the tip of her tongue.

"Bart, you like Sandra."

"Of course. She's a nice girl—she's fun."

"Why don't you think up some superlatives," Christie flamed. Anger was darkening in Bart's eyes.

"I won't have you going to Sandra's. I don't like her—and I don't trust her," Christie said.

"What I'm going to say has nothing to do with Sandra," Bart said, steadily. "I'm an individual, even though I'm married. And I don't take orders from anyone except a superior officer."

family, and every employer—and then to the public as a whole—to fight the mounting curve of accidents, both within the factory and outside.

Meat Shortage

The Office of Price Administration is investigating a shortage of meat in numerous cities throughout the country. We suspect the OPA knew the reason for the shortage even before there was a shortage. Certainly there were responsible officials in Washington who knew, and who were trying to get their warnings across.

The meat shortage illustrates the sort of trouble that is inevitable when an administrator is given responsibility for holding prices down, but is deprived of control over elements which govern prices.

The wholesale and retail prices of meats were frozen. The price of livestock went up from a cent and a half to two cents a pound. By the time that basic rise had reached the retailer, it meant a cut of from three to four cents a pound in this markup for overhead and profit.

Government experts say that packers were losing from $10 to $15 on every head of cattle they slaughtered, processed and sold, and from $2 to $2.50 on every hog.

The same amount of loss, these experts estimate, was being split between wholesalers and retailers, with the latter taking a little the worse beating.

The smaller packers began going out of business. The big ones, with a sickly grin, allowed that they could stay in business as a patriotic duty, drawing on their reserves.

The big supermarkets were losing money. The "Papa and Mama stores" got by, in part because their prices weren't under such close observation, and in part because their businesses were more flexible. The in-between stores, backbone of the trade, were being squeezed.

What happened? The stores began to hold back, particularly on beef and pork, since the more they sold the more money they lost. Raisers waited for higher prices, and lost their market.

Now, with meat almost unbuyable high, there also is a shortage. But next fall there will be a glut on the market.

The Department of Agriculture says there will be 28 million head of meat cattle to be sold before the year is over, a seventh more than last year, and 79 million hogs. The packing industry says there will be 92 million hogs to sell.

When this huge load is ready for market, it will find about a quarter of the small packers out of business. The industry, say experts, will not be able to handle this heavy load.

What are the options? One is to puncture the price ceiling by a cent or a cent and a half a pound. Another is to fix the price of livestock. A third is to continue as we are with the raisers deprived of a market, wholesalers and retailers losing money, packers forced out of business, and meat scarce for consumers.

Losing His Hold?

The English Gallup poll finds that Winston Churchill's popularity is at a new low. Only 78 per cent of the British approve his conduct of the war.

Well, Britain has been taking it on the chin, and Germany has been dishing it out. But do you imagine that a really secret poll in the Reich would give Hitler a 78 per cent vote of confidence? We doubt it.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, Aug. 2 — Vice President Wallace's Board of Economic Warfare seems to be folding its wings—or the parts that remained after President Roosevelt clipped them in April.

BEW is certainly not flying as high as forecast in its prospectus at the start of the war, when Wallace's devotees were saying it would be the big organization of the war and post-war world, eventually absorbing WPB and everything else.

Instead, WPB has issued order No. M-63 restricting imports, which rather seems to have put BEW down into strictly an advisory hole.

All official WPB and BEW comment on this order is vague. Both claim it had only routine aspects.

Before it was issued, however, Wallace's group had the power for preclusive buying of foreign products, and for ordering other foreign purchases on its own say-so; now it does not. Import orders are to be issued by WPB.

Inasmuch as State Secretary Hull succeeded in getting out of Roosevelt, last April 13, an executive order affirming his right over BEW, to handle all foreign affairs of the nation, Wallace and his little group of planners are now in the position of being free to think but not able to do.

They were supposed to plan out and blueprint the overall policy on economic warfare. (Such as buying up foreign copper before the nazis could get it.)

Speeches of Wallace, and his major domo, Milo Perkins, have been bearing down upon the further-reaching problem of making everybody happy after the war by giving them a quart of milk a day, and other things.

Some curtailment in personnel has been noticed in BEW this past month. On July 1, it had around 2000 employees. Authorities there say they decided to curtail in the interest of economy, but some of the bright young men who have left, say they realized its scope was being limited.

The major policy row between Price Fixer Leon Henderson and War Labor Board Chairman William H. Davis reached annoying, but unreported heights this week.

It seemed to develop aspects of a duel to the death with Henderson convinced there was no use trying to hold down the cost of living if Davis continues increasing union wages. Davis feels the same way about it in reverse.

A decision by Roosevelt is expected before the end of the week.

Newsman around the old Victorian state department building got tired of seeing forty staircases with heavy brass-handled rails when they read news dispatches this week that small arms making plants were closing down for lack of brass.

They petitioned officials to turn it in on the scrap drive but were referred to the Public Buildings Administration, which was supposed to have such matters in charge.

PBA, however, said it was doing nothing about brass star rails, and was only collecting old plate boilers and ornamental iron.

The old stair rails are still there. Newsman are considering tying them up with a nice little bow of red tape.

This does not relieve you of your obligation to get in all the scrap from your house, where there is no red tape. Excellent publicity is promoting national interest in the drive, but nobody seems to be telling citizens exactly what to look for around the house.

See if you have in the attic an iron or brass bed; brass or copper screen, old lamps or lighting fixtures, door knobs, even keys, locks or springs, roller skates, ice skates, sleds, ash-trays, metal vases, old knives, pots and pans, metal fans, electrical cords, old porch or garden furniture.

In the cellar, look for old stoves and irons, poker, furnace parts, faucets, sinks, garden tools, carpenter tools, any kind of rubber, tennis shoes, garden hose, overshoes.

The Texas primary result dismayed the White House only privately. Everyone knows an invisible Roosevelt blessing was on Judge Alford, who resigned a federal judgeship on the White House steps to enter the race against Senator O'Daniel.

However, Alford's friends here counseled against the president doing anything openly to aid Alford's cause, as they thought it might cause an unsatisfactory reaction. Consequently, any regrets that Alford was barely able to force O'Daniel into a run-off likewise have been kept confidential.

Navy Tells How 18 U. S. Tars Penetrate Gauntlet of 55 Ships

Details of 2000-Mile Flight From Corregidor Revealed

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2 — (AP)—The navy department has disclosed how Lieut. Comm. John H. Morrill of the minesweeper Quail and 17 of his men scuttled their ship when Corregidor fell and made a perilous, month long, 2,000 mile trip to Darwin, Australia, in a 36 foot motor launch.

The report of Lieut. Comm. Morrill, 39 years old, of Waverly, Pa., told how on one occasion his men whittled an emergency propeller shaft out of driftwood. At another time their little launch drifted thru a Japanese patrol flotilla while a repair job was under way. They passed within gun range of at least 55 Jap warships without being detected.

Morrill had earned the navy cross for heroism in the Philippines during the Japanese bombardment of the Cavite navy yard.

On May 5 eight of the nine naval auxiliary vessels remaining in the Corregidor area had been sunk by gunfire and bombs, or had been scuttled. Only the Quail remained afloat. That night the enemy opened up a full barrage.

Aid in Final Defense
"As seen from the Quail," Morrill wrote, "this barrage completely covered Corregidor proper and the entire island appeared as one sheet of flame."

On May 6 Morrill and his men were ordered to Fort Hughes on Caballo Island and manned the final defense line of that port. Ordered to scuttle the Quail, Morrill and five of his men were forced to swim to another boat anchored 200 yards off shore. They were strafed by dive bombers and machine gunned from the shore, but succeeded in reaching and scuttling their ship.

On their return they discovered that Fort Hughes had surrendered. They took refuge in a small deserted tugboat near the Caballo shore. At nightfall Morrill steered a small Diesel launch they had found toward Caballo Island and rescued 12 others of his crew.

The refugees hid in Hamillio cove, five miles from the starting point, for nearly two days. They camouflaged their boat with tree branches so well that when a seaplane flew directly over them at 500 foot altitude they were not sighted.

When Two Made a Crowd

The night of May 7 the party was preparing to venture forth when a Japanese destroyer slid into their cove. This destroyer dropped anchor only a few hundred feet from the camouflaged launch.

"Thruout the night we stood ready with rifles and automatic rifles, but the destroyer did not sight us," Morrill wrote. "It left the cove shortly after dawn."

On the evening of May 8 they cast off their camouflage and headed toward open water. Evading four Jap destroyers and numerous patrol boats, they set a course for Fortune Island and Nasugbu.

While passing southward about midway between Malacaban and Mindoro, they discovered themselves between two lines of Jap patrol boats.

They finally cleared the two lines, only to have the boat's engine break down and the current sweep them right back into the groove of enemy guns. The engine finally repaired, they bucked the current again, got thru and by daylight (May 10) they reached the small settlement of Digas.

From then on they ran at night, replenishing supplies with purchases from friendly natives. They reached Darwin June 6.

But ruefully, the skipper who had conquered all other problems of those 2,000 miles recorded in one of his final notes:

"No fishermen were present in the party. Many attempts were made, but no fish were caught."

Chandler Holds Big Lead Over Brown in Demo. Senate Fight

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 3—(AP)—Unofficial returns from more than three-fourths of Kentucky's 4,375 precincts today gave Senator A. B. "Happy" Chandler a lead of 66,996 votes for the Democratic senatorial nomination over John Young Brown, Lexington attorney.

Chandler left last night en route to Alaska, where he and other members of a senate subcommittee he heads will inspect defenses. Reports from 3,595 precincts show that in Saturday's primary the junior senator received 113,013 votes to 46,017 for Brown.

Chandler resigned as governor in October, 1939, and was appointed to the senate by his successor, Gov. Keen Johnson, to fill a vacancy created by the death of Senator M. M. Logan. The following year he was elected to serve out the remainder of Logan's term.

In the Republican senatorial primary, eclipsed by the Chandler-Brown contest which had Chandler's backyard swimming pool—gift of a Louisville contractor—as its chief issue, Richard J. Colbert of Lexington apparently was named to oppose Chandler in the November general election.

The incomplete and unofficial returns also showed that all of Kentucky's congressmen, eight Democrats and one Republican, apparently had won renomination without difficulty. Four of the Democrats were unopposed.

Week's Playground Program Schedule

The supervised playgrounds of the Dixon Park District under the direction of Miss Olive Palmer have been having record attendance at Lowell park on the swimming days, every Tuesday and Friday. Last Friday, July 31, there were one hundred and eighty-five children present at Lowell to enjoy the swimming and hiking. Banta's Ice Cream company served ice cream cones to all the children as well as members of the staff and life-guards. The refreshments were appreciated as a welcome interlude at noon-time.

The playgrounds will be open at regular times during this week. There will be contests held at the playgrounds in darts, shuffleboard and croquet. Other contests may be arranged at the request of the children. See your playground supervisor. Prizes will be given to the winners.

NOVIKOFF'S BIG BAT GIVES CUBS EVEN BREAK WITH DUROCHER'S DODGERS

Bums-Giants Play Relief Tilt Tonight

Wyatt Will Face Cross-Town Rivals in Series Opener

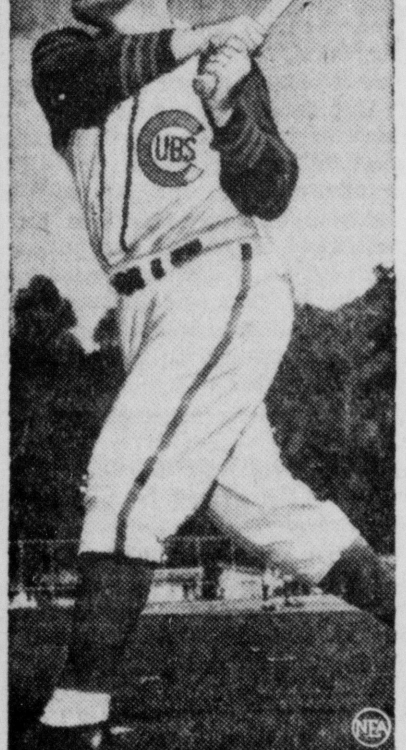

(By The Associated Press)
The Brooklyn Dodgers, who might not be so far along with their work had they met the New York Giants more often, tangle with their hecklers from Harlem this evening in a contest that has generated more excitement in Gotham than any baseball battle since the last World Series.

This interborough brawl was just another Monday ball game when the schedule was drawn months ago but now it's an important struggle with Army relief the principal beneficiary.

With everybody who goes through the gates buying a ticket and many others purchasing ducks without going to the game, officials won't be satisfied with anything less than $100,000.

A quick in the schedule has kept the two teams apart since Memorial Day. In 11 outings this season, the Dodgers won six and the Giants five. Whitlow Wyatt will be Brooklyn's starting pitcher for this evening's joust, which opens a four-game series.

Giants-Cards Split
The Giants helped the Dodgers preserve their nine-game lead yesterday by splitting a doubleheader with the second-place St. Louis Cardinals, which is all the Dodgers could do with the Chicago Cubs.

Lou Novikoff

It took the Dodgers ten innings to turn back the Cubs, 5-4, in the first game. Pete Reiser hoisted a long fly with the bases loaded to decide the issue. In the second game, Claude Passeau pitched the Cubs to a 7-6 triumph, but he had to have help in the ninth when the Dodgers rallied for three runs. Carl Hubbell pitched the Giants to a 7-1 decision over the Cardinals for his fifth straight win as Mel Ott blasted two home runs, one with the bases loaded. Then Mort Cooper tossed a four-hitter at the Giants and the Cards won, 3-2.

The Cincinnati Reds clung to their one-game third-place margin over the Giants by splitting with the Boston Braves. Al Javery blanked the Reds 7-0 on five hits in the first game, with Max West contributing a grand slam homer, but Cincinnati took the second, 4-2, on circuit blows by Eric Tip-ton and Eddie Joost, the latter's with a mate aboard.

The Philadelphia Phillies dumped the Philadelphia Phils, 4-2 and 3-2, and hopped over the Cubs into fifth place.

Yanks Down Browns Twice
In the American league, the New York Yankees downed the St. Louis Browns twice and stretched their lead to 12½ games over the Cleveland Indians, who wrested second place from the Boston Red Sox with the help of the Detroit Tigers.

A two-run homer by Tommy Henrich led the Yanks to 4-2 victory over St. Louis in the opener and Ernie Bonham blanked the Browns 10-0 in the nightcap, although he yielded ten hits.

SLUGGER LOU

Brooklyn, Aug. 3—(AP)—Although the Chicago Cubs won only one out of four games here last week end there was one Bruin the Dodgers were happy to see leave town today. Lou Novikoff slugged Brooklyn pitching for eight hits and an average of .444. His blows included two homers and a double.

PLAY THREE-I ALL-STAR TILT

North Meets South in Terre Haute Game Tonight

(By The Associated Press)
The Three Eye league really goes neutral tonight in conducting its annual All Star game at Terre Haute, Ind., no longer a member of the league. In the contest, players representing the northern half of the league will oppose selected players of the southern half.

The players were chosen by managers and sports writers of the league with Ollie Marquardt of Cedar Rapids named to direct the northern club and Tony Kaufman of Decatur the southern.

The intra-league clash comes at the heels of a bitter first place series between Springfield and Cedar Rapids. The two clubs entered the series tied for the top. They split even in the first two and Springfield won the odd game yesterday, 3 to 1 on the one hit pitching of Pavlick. A doubleheader was scheduled yesterday, but weather restricted play to a single game.

In the other games, Waterloo defeated Evansville in a double header, 4 to 3 and 1 to 0 while Decatur also swept its twin bill, trimming Madison, 10 to 2 and 4 to 3.

Comes Back to Scene of Early Wins

Alsab Will Run in Washington Park's Lakeside Handicap Today

BULLETIN
Chicago, Aug. 3—(AP)—Alsab was withdrawn from the $4,000 Lakeside handicap today as scratches reduced the field of starters in the opening day feature race of Washington park's 31-day meeting to nine.

Alsab's handlers apparently decided to defer his comeback test until he can stretch his legs on faster footing.

Chicago, Aug. 3—(AP)—Alsab, the colt expected to have much to say about three year old honors this season who has become something of problem horse instead, may make a belated return to racing today at Washington park, scene of his early triumphs as a juvenile.

Alsab is entered in the opening day feature of Washington's 31-day race meeting, the $4,000 Lakeside handicap at seven furlongs.

Alsab will carry 122 and will face such other older stars as Wolf Wolf, Smacked, Technician and Signator, all carrying less weight.

Al Sabath's bargain colt has not raced since he finished second to Shut Out in the Belmont stakes two months ago.

May Get Another Chance
During the layoff, Shut Out virtually clinched three year old honors but Alsab may get another chance at Mrs. Payne Whitney's horse in the American Derby by here Aug. 29 should his comeback prove successful.

Mighty Whirlaway returned east convinced Arlington park, which ended its meeting Saturday, was his nemesis. Saturday's $25,000 handicap was considered no more than a romp for turfdom's leading money winner, but instead it was the Irish bred Rounders owned by Emerson Woodward who did the romping. Whirlaway still finds himself without a major victory at Arlington. He was second to Attention in last year's classic, third to Swain in the 1940 Arlington futurity, and second Saturday to Rounders.

POLO GIRLS PLAY MERCHANTS TEAM

Two unblemished records are going to clash tonight when the Polo Girls meet the Merchants in the first game of a softball doubleheader at Polo tonight.

The girls have gone through the season thus far without a defeat so they will be gunning for a win to keep their streak rolling. In the case of the Merchants their unblemished record is one that is not yet marred by a victory. They managed to get through the first round of league play without winning a game while losing seven. However, they will be out to put a blemish on their record tonight with a victory over the girls.

In the second game of the twin bill, Davis and Peats will battle it out for the honor of engaging in the first division playoffs of the league. The teams are currently tied for fourth place in the standings, each having won 3 and lost three. The loser of tonight's game will drop into a tie for fifth with the Cooper's Cafe team which has won 3 while losing 4.

After the finish of the first round of play tonight the first division teams and the second division teams will engage in round robin playoffs between the four teams of each division.

The top three teams are Brooklyn, 7-0; Wolf Motors, 5-2, and Walters' Carpenters, 5-2. The bottom three teams are Pinecrest, 1-6 and the Merchants, 0-7, Peats and Davis both have 3-3 records and Cooper's Cafe has a 3-4 record.

In Friday night's games Davis overwhelmed the Pinecrest crew, 15-5, while Peats was blasting out a 19-9 win over the Merchants.

WRECKING CREW TEARS DOWN THE CEMETERY OF CHAMPIONS

By SID FEDER
New York, Aug. 3—(AP)—Out on Long Island, just a mile or so after you cross the East river, a wrecking crew went to work today tearing down a cemetery.

These fellows aren't ghouls for it is a cemetery without a grave—just a cemetery with a hoodoo. But as they rip out each board

For this is the Madison Square Garden's bowl, the huge cement coffee cup the garden put up in a big clover field for $150,000 two years ago as a spot to run its varied sports affairs outdoors. And in the decade of its existence, the bowl's biggest boast was that no champion who put his title on the line in the place was ever able to walk out with the crown.

Four times in three years the jinx jarred a heavyweight king from his throne. Twice the whammy took the welterweight crown from Barney Ross, finally sending him into retirement for keeps.

Champions Fell in Bowl
Buried in it also are the bright hopes of Max Schmelling for becoming the only heavyweight champion in ring history to regain the crown. It was in the bowl that Schmelling "fought" the famous phantom fight with Jim Braddock—a fight that never came off.

When you come right down to it, this curse against kings of the ring probably was what caused the bowl's abandonment. Champions just didn't want to fight there. Heavyweight Boss Schmelling was a 5 to 6 favorite the night he met Jack Sharkey there in 1932 but Sharkey took the title away.

A year later Primo Carnera and his mystic punch beat Sharkey and a year after that Max Baer chopped the Italian giant down. Then on June 13, 1935 Braddock—the longest long shot to come through in heavyweight title history—triumphed over the madcap Californian.

Ross won the welterweight title from Jimmy McLarnin in Madison Square Garden and was favored to retain it when they tangled again in the bowl in 1934. McLarnin won. Barney grabbed it right back in a 1935 scrap at the Polo grounds but three years later he was given the worst beating of his career—in the bowl—by Henry Armstrong.

That was the last big fight in the place.

Five of the nine blanks were sent in by girls for the women's singles class. (This is the first year women have been allowed to play in the tournament.) The five were Gertrude Wallin, Winogene Knapp, Joan Ruben, Carmen Leonard and Avis Leer.

Ted Mason, Philip Reilly, Ward Smith and William Goff have entered in both the men's singles and doubles classes.

An entry blank will be found at the bottom of this page. It should be filled out and sent in immediately as all entries must be in the mail by midnight tomorrow (Tuesday) night.

Any Dixon resident is eligible to compete in the tournament, the entry fee being fifty cents. However, this fee should not be mailed with the entry blank as it will be collected later.

Unless some changes have to be made, all matches will be played on the high school courts. All entrants must wear tennis shoes while playing.

Judges will only be present for the finals at which the winner must take three out of five sets. In the preliminaries the matches will be two out of three sets.

It was originally planned that tournament play would begin this Saturday with the preliminaries of the men's doubles. However, Philip Reilly and Ted Mason expect to take part in a tournament which starts Wednesday at Decatur and would be unable to play here Saturday. Therefore doubles play will probably start Saturday, Aug. 15, at the same time the women swing into action.

Men's singles eliminating rounds will definitely start Sunday and all finals will be played on the following Sunday, Aug. 16.

ROCKFORD WILL REPRESENT ILL. IN NAT'L MEET

Wins State Legion Title in Straight Games From Oak Park

Quincy, Ill., Aug. 3—(AP)—They just couldn't make the obstacles too tough for Rockford's American Legion Junior baseball team. That's the reason Rockford today is the Illinois representative in the annual Legion baseball tournament.

The athletes from the Rockford post clinched state honors yesterday by winning their second straight from Oak Park's Cook county champions, but they had to go 13 innings to get the decision, 6-5.

Saturday, they pulled the opening game of the series out of the fire by scoring 12 runs in the last two innings to win, 18-17. Earlier the same day they had to defeat Normal to qualify a second time for the state playoffs.

Second Downstate Final

They qualified the first time by defeating Peoria in the downstate finals eight days ago. However, a decision in the downstate tournament that disqualified Normal after Normal already had beaten Peoria in the semi-finals, was reversed and Rockford was ordered to play Normal in what amounted to a second downstate "title" game. But Rockford took this obstacle in stride and then went on to whip Oak Park in straight games.

Two errors in the 13th inning yesterday helped Rockford to its winning run after the two teams had battled scorelessly from the eighth inning on. Stan Peck was safe on an error to open the inning. Moland singled him to second and both advanced another base when the Oak Park right fielder failed to field the ball cleanly. Gordy Johnson then sent a roller to first baseman Bob Clark who elected to make the play at the plate, but Peck beat the throw.

ALL-STAR GAME IS 'FIRST' FOR STAGG

Chicago, Aug. 3—(AP)—There still are football "firsts" even for such veterans at the business as Amos Alonzo Stagg and Robert Zupke.

This year's All Star game at Soldier's Field, for instance, will mark the first 80 year old Stagg has seen. The College of the Pacific coach and mentor at the University of Chicago for more than 40 years, will present a trophy just before the kickoff between the collegians and Chicago's Bears to Minnesota's George Franck. The Gopher halfback was adjudged the most valuable player of the 1941 All Star squad.

Zupke's "first" will be that of master minding the All Stars for the first time since the game's inaugural in 1934. Appointment of Zupke, who resigned as University of Illinois coach last year after 29 years of guiding the Illini, was made Saturday.

HARBERT, DUTCH HARRISON HAVE PLAYOFF TODAY

Finish St. Paul Open Tied at 280, Eight Under Par

St. Paul, Aug. 3—(AP)—Chick Harbert and Dutch Harrison climb around the rugged Keller public links in an 18-hole playoff for the St. Paul Open golf championship today and the $1,000 that goes with first place.

They finished all square Sunday with 280 strokes each—eight under par—at the end of the regulation 72 holes.

Both Harbert of Battle Creek, Mich., and Harrison, the Arkansas traveler working out of Harrisburg, Pa., have been tabbed as the up-and-coming golfers of the day.

Both are former Texas Open champions, the 27-year-old Harbert winning it this year in a playoff with Hogan, and Harrison taking it in 1938. Both have figured in quite a bit of prize money during their comparatively short bids for places in golf's front ranks.

Trailed Harrison
Harbert was four strokes behind leader Gene Kunes of Philadelphia as the field entered the last 36 holes yesterday and three behind Harrison. On the first 27 holes of the day, Harbert stood five under par after firing a 68 and turning in a 35 on the first nine in the afternoon. With nine holes remaining, he lead Harrison by three strokes.

The Arkansas took a 73 and a 36 and appeared lost in the shuffle, while Kunes faded bad to leave the gate open.

But Harrison settled down to shoot three straight birdies at the start of the last nine, while Harbert also fashioned two birdies but nullified them with a pair of bogies to post a 36 for 71. Coming up to the last green, Harrison needed a birdie four to tie. He got it by pitching six feet from the cup and holing the putt for a dazzling 33 and a 69 for the round.

Jimmy Hines missed a six foot putt on the last green and finished third with 281, followed in order by Johnny Revolta and Kunes.

Mei-Mei, Giant Panda of Brookfield, Dead

Chicago, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Mei-Mei, giant Panda that was the Brookfield Zoo's headline attraction for more than five years, died today.
Robert Bean, assistant director of the Zoo, said an autopsy would be performed in an effort to determine cause of death. Preliminary study, he said, indicated Mei-Mei did not die from the same cause that took two giant Pandas from the New York Zoo or that which killed Su-Lin, another Brookfield Panda and the first brought to the United States.
Mei-Mei was brought to Brookfield as a playmate for Su-Lin which died in 1938. Mei-Mei's death leaves only five Pandas in captivity, Bean said.

England Warned to Heed India's Plea for Independence

Bombay, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The political situation in India took an ominous turn today as Mohandas K. Gandhi warned that British failure to heed Indian demands for independence would cause discontented elements to welcome a Japanese invasion.

The little Nationalist leader, writing in his newspaper Harijan, expressed the personal opinion that such a development would be "a calamity of the first magnitude" which he said the British government should avoid by giving in at once.

Gandhi added that the "chorus of indignation" from Britain and the United States would not deter his own projected campaign of non-violent opposition to British rule, on which the All-India Congress party is expected to reach a final decision Friday.

He emphasized that while India was demanding political freedom she was not insisting on the withdrawal of British troops from the country nor seeking to impede the war effort of the United Nations. (The Japanese continued their efforts to stir up trouble in India by broadcasting from Bangkok a speech by Rash Behari Bose, exiled Indian Nationalist, in which he declared that the time was ripe for the people to rise and win their independence. Bose said that Japanese troops already were on the eastern border of India but were postponing action to see whether the Indian people would throw off British rule "of their own accord.")

Cargo Planes 'Will Not Be Ready Till Next War'

Washington, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Col. Hugh J. Knerr, retired, told a senate military subcommittee today that shipyards would be able to build cargo planes "for the next war," but he thought it would take too long for them to produce aircraft for this one.
Knerr said he had investigated the possible conversion of shipyards into cargo plane factories in 1939 for a Newport News builder, and reported that he found "shipyard methods could not be used without re-education of the drafting room personnel and yard management."

Experience, he said, showed that it took "three years from the time the designers put pencil to paper until the planes fly." Consequently he added, conversion of the shipyards was "not practical for this war," but would be for the next war.

Low-Paid Government Workers Get Raises

Washington, Aug. 3.—(AP)—President Roosevelt signed legislation today giving raises to thousands of government workers, mostly in the lower-paid classifications, and boosting the minimum for full-time adult workers from $1,020 to $1,200 annually. The budget bureau estimated the increases would total $15,768,000 annually, with all but about $300,000 going to custodial service workers and employees in the lower grades of the sub-professional service.

the president approved its findings.

The prosecutors spent ten days presenting evidence in support of contentions that the defendants were schooled in sabotage methods in Germany and put ashore from U-boats in New York and Florida to commit acts against the United States' war effort.

Six days were taken up in presentation of defense evidence, which included contentions that the men merely pretended to subscribe to the sabotage scheme as a ruse to get out of Germany.

May Execute First

After a two-day recess for proceedings before the Supreme Court which resulted in a judgment upholding the authority of the military commission to try the men under a presidential order, arguments of attorneys were completed last Saturday.

The brevity of today's session indicated that it was held merely to notify the prisoners of the judgment, which apparently was reached at a commission session yesterday from which the prisoners and attorneys were excluded. It was possible that execution of the sentences, which might be a maximum penalty of death by hanging or before a firing squad, might precede announcement of the commission's verdict.

There has been consistent speculation that one of the prisoners, George John Dasch, might receive a verdict different from his seven co-defendants in view of the fact that he reportedly gave valuable evidence to the government and was assigned separate counsel.

and that at least four more probably were destroyed.

A number of American pilots distinguished themselves in the action, General Stilwell's headquarters said.

Special mention was given Lieut. John Lombard of Ionia, Mich., and Lieut. D. A. Clinger of Etna, Wyo., who found themselves at one time engaged by 23 enemy fighter planes. Before extricating themselves from these impossible odds, the Americans each shot down one of the enemy, the communicate reported.

Capt. Albert Baumber of Trenton, N. J., took top score with three Japanese planes.

Tsingstien Retaken

Chungking, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The Chinese high command confirmed press reports today that its forces had recaptured Tsingstien, 22 miles northwest of the port of Wenchow in Chekiang and said the Japanese were retreating upon the air base of Lishui.

Just west of Wenchow, the communicate said, the Chinese recaptured several strategic points and fighting was said to be raging on the outskirts of the Japanese-held port.

Japanese columns were admitted to be closing in upon Sungyang, 25 miles west of Lishui in southern Chekiang province, however, and severe battles were underway to the east of Sungyang.

Tsingstien was captured on July 29, the Chinese said, after it had been occupied by the Japanese only 24 hours. It has changed hands four times.

Murray Proposes

his formal statement. Previous peace efforts in 1937 and 1939 failed.

For Joint Committee
The CIO leader also suggested to Green the creation of a joint AFL-CIO committee, with an impartial arbitrator, to handle all jurisdictional disputes between the two organizations. Murray said such disputes had caused several work stoppages recently. Pending decisions by the proposed committee, he wrote, there should be no stoppages of work.

Murray stipulated that the peace discussions should not "under any circumstances, be permitted to interfere with the all-important matter of continued joint action between the CIO and AFL on issues affecting the fullest possible prosecution of the war effort."

He referred to the work of a labor victory committee of AFL and CIO representatives which he said now meets with President Roosevelt "regarding all issues affecting labor's participation in the prosecution of the war."

Reds Lash Back in

attacks were being withheld. "In the areas of Kuschevka and Salski", a Russian communicate said, "our troops continued to fight severe defensive battles against the enemy. In several successful counter attacks Don and Kuban Cossack units killed 1,500 Germans."

The Germans were dropping parachutists in some key regions across the Don and in addition the Russians reported finding Nazi spies by the dozens operating in that area. Forty-five were executed in one sector. Presumably these were fifth columnists.

Paper Demand Action
Moscow newspapers gave increasing space to demands for a second front to ease the strain on the Red army. The communist party newspaper Pravda, declaring that "the danger in the south is more acute", said "the enemy is draining Germans and German-occupied countries to send all reserves into the fight."

British military quarters said in London that sixteen Nazi divisions had been transferred from France and the low countries to the Russian front, but added that this did not necessarily indicate a weakening of Germany's defenses to the west since the transferred troops had been replaced by other units. These sources estimated that the Germans now have about 26 divisions (260,000 to 390,000 men) in France, Belgium and the Netherlands, exclusive of the troops in Norway.

On the Egyptian front, land operations were limited to patrol skirmishes and artillery fire but, overhead, allied fighters and bombers kept up their steady bombing and machinegunning of the axis communications and bases of supply.

The War Today

ance that is battling the axis which would destroy us.

Surely we haven't reached point where it's every man for himself in this crisis. If we are to have the strength and inspiration to fight this thing through to the new world which we envisage, it must be one for all and all for one. So, in the broad sense, the Russians are fighting for us and we are fighting for them—and it's grand to feel that this is so.

From personal observation of the British front in France during the last war I know that it was President Wilson's Good Samaritanism which had much to do with buoying up the spirits of the fighting men during such dark hours as we had in that awful spring of 1918 when the Germans all but won the war. And it was his humanitarian promises of Woodrow Wilson which had much to do with persuading the German people to revolt and make peace. They believed we were fighting for something more than our own good.

It isn't difficult to see what may have been in Lady Astor's mind. Communism has been a thorn in England's side ever since the war was born and the Bolsheviks set out to try to sovietize that country. A good many Britons there fore regard Moscow with stern suspicion. The situation has been somewhat similar in this country.

But most statesmen seem to have arrived at the conclusion that it isn't necessary for allied countries to accept the political doctrine of Communism in order to make a perfect war alliance with Russia. No country need lower the barriers against Communism one inch in order to carry out its partnership with the soviet in this war crisis.

LEGAL PUBLICATION

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION
Pursuant to law in such case made and provided, public notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment will be submitted to the electors of the State of Illinois for adoption or rejection at the General Election to be held on November 3, 1942.

Article IX
Sec. 1. The General Assembly shall provide such revenue as may be needful by levying a tax, by valuation, so that every person and corporation shall pay a tax in proportion to the value of his, her or its property, such value to be ascertained as the General Assembly shall direct, and not otherwise; but the General Assembly shall have power to tax peddlers, auctioneers, brokers, hawkers, merchants, commission merchants, showmen, jugglers, innkeepers, grocery keepers, liquor dealers, toll bridges, ferries, insurance, telegraph and express interests or business, vendors of patents, and persons or corporations owning or using franchises and privileges, in such manner as it shall from time to time direct by general law, uniform as to the class upon which it operates.

Notwithstanding the foregoing requirement that a tax shall be uniform as to the class upon which it operates, the General Assembly shall have power to exempt from the provisions of any Act imposing an occupational or privilege tax the business of selling food for human consumption, and in providing for such exemption the General Assembly shall have power to define the word "food".

Explanation of Proposed Amendment.
The proposed Section 1 of Article IX of the Constitution differs from the present Section 1 of Article IX only by reason of the addition of the second paragraph, which is entirely new and which provides that the General Assembly shall have the power, in imposing an occupational or privilege tax, to exempt the business of selling food for human consumption, and gives the General Assembly the power to define the word "food".

Reasons Why Proposed Amendment Should be Ratified by the Voters

The Constitution requires that the General Assembly, in levying an occupational tax, shall make the same uniform as to the class upon which it operates. Therefore, the General Assembly has no power to exempt food sold for human consumption, but must impose an occupational tax on all retailers, or none. By giving the General Assembly power to exempt sales of food from the operation of the sales tax, a way is opened to remedy the injustice existing under the present law.

The proposition for the adoption or rejection of the proposed amendment will appear on the official ballot at the left of the names of the candidates following the explanation hereinabove made in substantially the following form:

For the proposed amendment to Section 1 of Article IX of the Constitution.	Yes	No
--	-----	----

In order for the proposed amendment to be adopted it must receive a majority of all the votes cast at the general election, not just a majority of all the votes on the proposed amendment. All who neglect to vote on the proposed amendment are really voting against it. Each voter of Illinois is urged to study this question carefully and to vote according to his or her best judgment.

CAPITOL BUILDING
Springfield, Illinois.
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE

I, EDWARD J. HUGHES, Secretary of State of the State of Illinois, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the proposed amendment, explanation and reason for ratification, and the form of the official ballot to be used in submitting the same to the electors of this State at the General Election to be held on the Third day of November, A. D. 1942, the originals of which are now on file in this office.

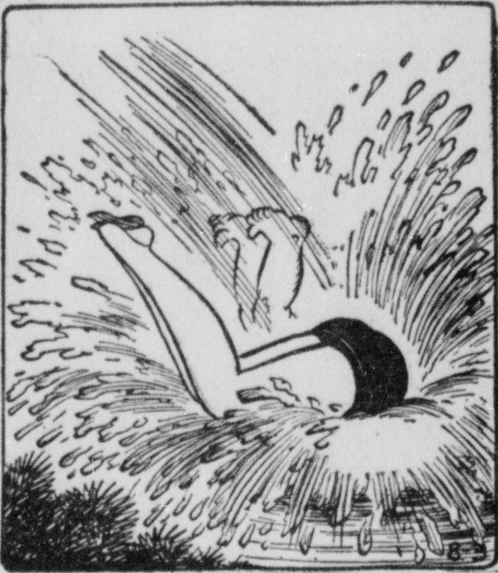

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I hereunto set my hand and affix the Great Seal of the State of Illinois. Done at my office in the Capitol Building, in the city of Springfield, this 15th day of July, A. D. 1942, of the Independence of the United States the one hundred and sixty-sixth.

EDWARD J. HUGHES,
(SEAL) Secretary of State.
Aug. 3-10-17-24, 1942

AMERICAN GOATS
The United States Census Bureau took its first goat census in 1940 and found 3,417,347 goats in the country. Of this number, only 118,896 were milch goats and the rest were Angoras, raised for their mohair.

Illinois Governor Says Republicans Bar Totalitarians

Green Tells Nebraska Audience 2 Parties Are Essential

Republicans are trustees of the one instrument which protects the country from a one party system of government, Gov. Dwight H. Green of Illinois said in an address prepared for delivery in Omaha Saturday night.

Speaking at a Republican dinner to leaders of the middle west, given by Gov. Dwight Griswold of Nebraska, Gov. Green stressed the importance of our two party system of government to national war unity. He said that a single party system amounts to totalitarianism and that in winning the war we must maintain the republic as a nation of free men.

Gov. Green called for rigid curtailment of all governmental spending unconnected with the war effort.

Wild Spending Must End

"Every expense nonessential to the war must be eliminated or reduced to a minimum," he said. "Wild spending upon theories and experiments must end. Government can tighten its belt and give up the 'sugar' of peace time extravagance."

The governor emphasized that Americans of all political faiths are unified in the war effort and asserted that Americans are throwing into it every power and resource they possess.

"The Republican party has accepted the greatest responsibilities ever imposed upon it—the paramount responsibility of winning this war and the equal responsibility of preserving our constitutional form of government and the rights of states and communities in it," he said.

"While Americans of all political faiths are unified in the efforts of war, those in the ranks of the Republican party—as well as those who lead them—must not neglect, or forsake, the enforcement of those principles by which our form of government must be preserved.

Warns of Hollow Victory

"We will win the war, and we will maintain the republic as a nation of free men. That is what counts now. But if in victory we relinquish the very concepts of the free government we are making such sacrifices to keep, then that victory will prove a hollow one."

The governor said that a single party, unchecked by sincere and honest opposition, becomes all powerful and reaches toward extremes. He declared that the only balance for administration by any party is another able, strong, militant, and patriotic party.

The governor took issue with the theory that all acts of government must be accepted now without question of their wisdom and effectiveness.

"Constructive criticism and complete freedom of speech by statesmen, public and press have a very definite bearing upon our war economy and upon the state in which the nation will find itself when the war is over," he said.

Machines Flourish

The governor warned that pressure groups and political machines flourish during an emergency, and asserted that those who are expending the nation's funds and upon whom we depend to utilize the fullest productive strength of America should be selected for their ability and not because of political subservience.

"American ingenuity must be given unhampered opportunity so that there can be no more shortages and misdirection in war and domestic materials such as we are experiencing in rubber and steel," he said. "No American begrudges any sacrifices for victory, but surely foresight also can prevent the rationing of commodities upon one hand while their creation is discouraged upon the other."

Gov. Green paid high tribute to the part being played in the war effort by the middle west.

"In eight months of war, the great middle west—where Republicans have a strong voice in the executive and legislative acts of government—has not only responded to this call but has exceeded its every implication of effort," he said.

Lead in Bond Sales

"In the campaigns to sell war bonds we have been far ahead of other states with greater populations. We have led in salvage drives, and from the assembly lines of our industries and from the fields of our farmers a tremendous volume of munitions and food has been sent rolling toward the depots of transmission. Our men enlisted in the fighting forces so rapidly that quotas were more than filled."

"If there is any apathy in America—which I doubt—any failure to understand, any complacency in sureness of victory, they do not exist among the people of the middle west."

Speaking of the future, the governor said that although it may be our tragic necessity to live through the greatest military crisis, followed by the greatest social and economic crisis in all world history, we will also have to mold and direct the society which will provide even greater happiness and prosperity under a permanent peace.

"Never for one moment," he said, "shall we relent in our watchfulness against encroachments upon constitutional government. Subversive influences which attempt this should be crushed as relentlessly as the enemies we are meeting on the foreign fields of battle."

Reports Show That Illinois Has 9710 One-Room Schools

Sixty-one Per Cent of Them Have Fifteen or Less Pupils

"Illinois, with 9,710 one-room school districts, has by far the largest number of any state in the United States," the Taxation Committee of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce reported today in releasing latest data obtained by the committee. Of these 9,710 one-room schools, 61% have 15 or less pupils enrolled. The report further reveals that although the national trend shows a steady decrease in the number of one-room schools during the past decade, Illinois has made little or no progress in reducing the number of its one-room school districts, all of which levy and collect taxes.

The chart illustrating the report gives figures on national reduction of one-room school districts and also compares Illinois with 7 other highest population states.

The Sixty-second General Assembly was the first group of Illinois legislators in recent years to make some kind of an effort to readjust the state's antiquated school system. They passed a law taking state aid away from all school districts having less than seven pupils in average daily attendance. It will astonish many of our citizens to know that 2211 of the one-room schools in our state are in this category. However, this action does not force these schools to close, as local taxes may still be levied to keep them operating, but they cannot receive state aid.

The committee reported that there are at present many small school districts not large enough to have facilities to use comprehensive and economical methods of administration. There are many districts with an insufficient number of pupils. There are many school districts financially unable to support good schools. To make the necessary adjustments; to reduce the cost of unnecessary duplication between certain areas; and to improve the quality of school administration, need not involve additional tax expense. On the other hand, proper adjustments would result in substantial savings and create better facilities in the community. Making the school unit large enough to be efficiently and economically administered will not interfere with local control of schools or local self government.

The taxation committee of the state chamber offers two possible solutions to the small school problem in Illinois: (1) The school township could be organized into one district for school taxing purposes. A school township varies in area throughout the state and contains a number of school districts. Surveys made by the committee show that this plan would be practical in many areas in Illinois. No new buildings would have to be constructed in these areas and the tax rate could be reduced as much as 35%.

(2) All rural schools and small village schools in the county could be operated under the jurisdiction of one county-wide board of education, with full powers of administration and taxation. A sufficient number of schools would be maintained so that the pupil load could be equitably distributed.

This plan would give many thousands of Illinois children the advantage of a better education and at the same time the ultimate cost to the taxpayers in these areas would be less.

The report concludes with the observation that although Illinois is one of the foremost states in the nation in point of population and wealth, it still maintains an antiquated and costly school system.

U. S. Tank Crews Are Training in Egypt

London, Aug. 2—(AP)—American army tank crews are training only a few miles behind the fighting front in Egypt preparing for action alongside the British imperials, Reuters, British news agency, reported today from "somewhere in Egypt."

The Americans from all sections of the United States will use American tanks which the British have found to be more than a match for German armor, Reuters said.
